Mr. Motley's Instructions—Missing Minister McMahon—News from Cuba—Indian Agents—The Sun Eclipse—Printers and the "Colored" Question.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 15, 1869.

MINISTER MOTLEY'S INSTRUCTIONS.

It is not true, as announced in a recent cable telegram, that in an official communication Minister Motley intimated the Administration concurs in the reasons which led the Senate to reject the Alabama treaty. Such was not the tenor of his instructions concerning his intercourse with Her Majesty's government, and it is not, therefore, considered probable that he would make that assertion. It is, however, certain he was instructed to explain the circumstances attending the rejection of the treaty, without committing this government to any line of policy, but at the same time standing by the rejection of the treaty. Mr. Motley is not instructed to make any proposition for the settlement of the claims, but to say that, in view of the irritation in England owing to the rejection of the treaty, the present is not an auspicious time to propose the reopening of negotiations. In other words, the temporary postponement of the question is desirable, with the hope that when the excitement shall subside Her Majesty's government will invite a reopening of negotiations. He is not authorized to announce the readiness of our government to make any proposition on that subject, nor to demand the payment of the amount of damages, national as well as individual, but to assure Her Majesty's government of the sincere desire of our own to have all matters of dispute adjusted on terms honorable and satisfactory to both nations. Another point in the instructions is in effect that the mere proclamation declaring the rebels entitled to belligerent rights, is not in itself a cause for demanding damages, or a separate ground of complaint; but this, taken in connection with subsequent acts, was unfriendly and showed a spirit of hostility against the United States during the late war, resulting in losses which require reparation. The instructions were prepared at the Department of State about ten days before Minister Motley left this country, having been slightly modified at the instance of President Grant himself. They were carefully considered by the Cabinet, to whom they were acceptable, and were soon thereafter handed to Motley without further amendment. The only specific instructions to Mr. Motley as to treaty negotiations are with reference to naturalization and Consuls, and it is supposed by this time he has entered upon that duty.

MISSING MINISTER M'MAHON.

Letters from Rio dated April 24th, and Buenos Ayres, April 14th, state that nothing has been heard directly from Minister McMahon since landing at the headquarters of Lopez, December 12th. The Brazilian authorities made every effort to forward his dispatches from the State Department, but unsuccessfully, as Lopez refused to receive any flags of truce, and has shot several flag bearers. Commander Kirkland of the Wasp, and the Italian Consul at Paraguay, state that they believe McMahon is a prisoner. Three sisters of McMahon, who remained at Buenos Ayres, have become alarmed and have written to the State Department asking for intervention. Dispatches for McMahon have been returned to Commander Kirkland by the Brazilian Commander-in-Chief of the flag-ship Gurriere.

The State Department has received no positive or direct information from Minister McMahon since December last, when he arrived at Asuncion. All other information is rumor and speculation. Mr. Worthington, Minister to Uruguay, writes from Buenos Ayres that he had cemanded of the Argentine Republic Government either an escort through the allied lines, or for permission for a United States escort to pass through them to enable our Government to communicate with Minister McMahon. Both the Buenos Ayres and Brazilian Governments have refused the right, on the ground that it could not then be granted without affecting the proposed hostile movements of the governments, which were soon to take place, and which would open up the communication desired. Mr. Worthington replied that he had already waited forty days for the movements to be made, that the right of the government of the United States to have the communication made was undisputed, and as the allies would not aid our government, it would be driven to its own resources to obtain the communication. Commander Kirkland, of the Wasp, had a sharp correspondence with the Brazilian and Buenos Ayrean governments on the subject.

NEWS FROM CUBA.

Intelligence is received here from Cuban sources of the fight which took place between the revolutionary forces and Spanish troops near Puerto del Padre. The Cuban troops, numbering two thousand, were attacked in their entrenchments by the Spaniards with a force of nearly double that number, who were twice repulsed. The loss of Cubans was less than one hundred killed and wounded, while that of the attacking party was three times as great. The Spaniards retreated, leaving a number of their wounded on the field. The result of this battle has had an encouraging effect upon the Cuban army, which is reported gaining strength every day from the very best portion of the people of the Island. The want of harmony between the officers in command of the Government troops in the field and the volunteers who have taken possession of the Government of the Island is exhibiting itself in the demoralization of the Spanish troops and the large number of desertions to the Cuban army. This condition has given new impetus and strength to the Cuban cause, the leaders having no doubt of ultimate success.

A number of recruits, mostly from Virginia, left here yesterday and to-day to join a force rendezvousing on the Southern coast preparing to join the Cuban army.

INDIAN AGENTS.

The Society of Friends have presented to the Secretary of the Interior for appointment as Agents for the Central Superintency the names of the following members of their religious order: Cyrus Beede, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, for the Neosho Agency; John D. Miles, of Wabash, Indiana, for the Kickapoos; Jonathan Richards, of Philadelphia, for the Potawatamies: Thomas Miller, of Springfield, Ohio, for the Sacs and Foxs; Nathan Stubbs, of Kansas, for the Kansas Indians.

PRINTERS AND THE "COLORED" QUESTION.

At a meeting of the printers at the Government office, held this afternoon, speeches were made vindicating themselves from the charge by the National Typographical Union that they were working with a "rat." One speaker said the question of admitting colored printers must be met and it was their privilege to settle it, and settle it right. Committees were appointed to prepare and report resolutions and make arrangements for a public meeting on Friday night.

POSTOFFICE SPECIAL AGENTS.

The Postmaster General authorizes the statement, for the information of railroad companies, that under the recent re-organization of the special agents' service of the Postoffice Department, no commissions will be issued except to persons actually employed. The number will be limited. The commissions must be signed by the Postmaster General, and should be duly respected, and all other commissions are inoperative and void.

THE INDIANS.

Savages Still on the War Path—Robberies and Murders.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—An Omaha special says two white men were killed by a small band of Indians, supposed to be Sioux, this afternoon, near Lone Tree, on the Platte river, one hundred and fifty miles from here. The steamers Nile and Ida Rees, from Fort Benton, report the Indians above fighting among themselves and killing whites when found alone, but making no demonstrations against the boats or forts.

A Hays City dispatch says: News was received here to-day that the Indians are robbing and massacreing the settlers near Minneapolis, forty miles west of Salina. Captain Weir, with forty men, started from Fort Hays early this morning, destined for Camp Supply, taking with him all the Indian prisoners at Fort Hays, numbering upwards of fifty men, women and children. It is said by men from the Fort that they are to be delivered up to their respective tribes as soon as possible. The object sought is to try and make peace with the tribes who are now on the war path.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 15.—A special from Ellsworth to the Times and Conservative says: The Indians are again at their murderous work, this time about thirty-five miles north of Solomon City. Two men are reported to have been killed. A party of men followed the Indians, but discovering a large force of them did not make an attack.

Governor Harney arrived at Salina yesterday, and left this morning for the scene of outrages. A quantity of arms were received at Solomon City and Salina this afternoon for the protection of the settlers. A force of armed men left Salina yesterday and another to-day. Capt. Whitney leaves to-morrow for Spillman with his company of scouts. Most of the settlers are armed and on their guard.

An ode was sung by the Boston Quintelle Club. An oration was delivered by Sir Wm. H. Allen, Most Eminent Grand Commander of Pennsylvania. Then followed the benediction by Sir Rev. Jno. Chambers, when the Knights partook of a collation and dispersed until evening, when they were present at a grand ball in the Academy of Music, which had been brilliantly decorated with flags and banners carried by the various Commanderies in the procession.

NATIONAL PEACE JUBILEE.

The Inauguration Performances.

TWELVE THOUSAND PERFORMERS.

Audience of Twenty-five Thousand.

THE LIKE NEVER BEFORE SEEN ON THIS CONTINENT.

National Airs With Full Accompaniment, Including Artillery.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

BOSTON, June 15, 1869.

The inauguration of the great National Peace Jubilee took place shortly after three o'clock P. M. today. Rev. E. E. Hale asked a divine blessing, closing with the Lord's Prayer. Mayor Shurtleff delivered the welcome address. Hon. H. A. Rice followed as the orator of the day. His speech was of considerable length, in which he said: "It is ordained in the affairs of men that the highest triumph of victory is the most perfect peace; the loudest din of battle hushed in the melody of song. In entire agreement with this thought convenes this vast assembly, larger than ever before gathered in a single audience-room upon this continent—gathered from the East, from the West, from the North, and from the South—to blend the power of numbers and the harmony of sound together, multiplied voice and instrument of every name, in sending up to Heaven and forth to men a pean of great joy over the restoration of domestic peace and the renewal of prosperity to our common country."

Admiral Farragut, Commodore Rogers and other veteran naval officers were escorted to the Coliseum by the Union Navy Association.

Parepa and Ole Bull were cordially greeted by both performers and spectators. The chorus and instrumental performers numbered from ten to twelve thousand, and the audience probably twenty-five thousand, notwithstanding heavy showers during the forenoon and the continued threatening weather. Fully one-half the people inside the Coliseum were ladies. A general view from the balcony is quite beyond description; nothing like it was ever seen on this continent. The view embraced about three and a half acres of faces.

The first piece on the programme, the Grand Choral, "A Strong Castle is Our Lord," was sung by the full chorus, with the grand orchestra and organ under the direction of Gilmore. The chorus comprised ten thousand voices and the orchestra eleven hundred instruments, which, combined with the swelling notes of the organ, completely filled the building, the vocalization by the chorus being as distinct and clear in enunciation as if only given by a church choir, excepting that in volume it excelled anything ever before heard. At its close the audience testified their appreciation by long continued applause.

The overture, "Tan Hauser," by a select orchestra of six hundred musicians, was then performed under the direction of Julius Eichberg. It was carefully and thoroughly performed, its finer strains being plainly heard in all their sweetness in all parts of the building. It was a confessed success, eliciting rounds of applause.

"Glory be to God on High," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, was rendered in vocalization by a full chorus with orchestral and organ accompaniment, under direction of Zerrahan.

"Ave Maria" was then sung by Parepa, whose appearance was greeted by simultaneous applause from the audience and performers.

The violin obligato was by two hundred violins, led by Ole Ball, under the directorship of Gilmore.

The solo by Parepa was heard in all parts of the building.

The next was the "Star Spangled Banner," under direction of Gilmore. This introduced the whole chorus, organ, the entire force of musicians, with the chiming of church bells and firing of artillery. This was one of the greatest features of the day and was a grand success. The audience, after joining in the chorus of the last verse, rose en masse in a state of high patriotic excitement, and it was repeated with renewed energy and harmony, closing with another outburst of enthusiasm.

After intermission, "The Hymn of Peace," by Dr. Holmes, to music of Keller's American Hymn, was sung by the whole chorus, and enthusiastically encored. Parepa Rosa then sang the "Inflamatus," from Stabat Mater, the responses being given by the chorus with an accompaniment by the organ and full orchestra. It was considered a grand triumph.

The Coronation March was encored.

The Anvil Chorus was given by the whole force, with a hundred anvils and artillery accompaniment. It created intense enthusiasm and the audience demanded a repetition.

The National air, "My Country 'tis of Thee," was the last piece. It was sung by the whole chorus, with all the accompaniments, including the organ, full orchestra, big drum, chimes, and artillery. It was the crowning success of the day. The audience stood on their seats, shouted and made extraordinary demonstrations. The last verse was repeated, the whole mass joining.

At the conclusion Mr. Gilmore was greeted with repeated cheers both from the audience and performers. The building was soon vacated. Every person was loud in praise of the success of the inauguration day of the jubilee. The indications are the Coliseum will be crowded all week.

RECEPTION OF PRESIDENT GRANT.

A joint committee of the Legislature will receive President Grant to-morrow at half past ten o'clock at St. James Hotel, and under escort of a company of cavalry accompany him to the State House, where he will be officially received the Governor and legislative bodies. He will review the State militia, and in the afternoon become the guest of the city. He will also visit the Coliseum in the evening.

Irish Church Disestablishment—Significant Note from John Bright—Debate in the House of Lords Continued, Without Action—Tranquility in Paris.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, June 15,—The Times in an article on last night's debate in the House of Lords, says: The speeches of Lord Stratford de Radcliffe and the Arch Bishop of Canterbury leaves no doubt as to the result as to the bill. While they dislike it, and are unable to persuade themselves it will have a beneficial effect, they advise the House to give its assent. The practical good sense and patriotism of these speeches contrast strongly with the tone of Mr. Bright's hasty effusion.

The Telegraph says: After the first night's debate on the Irish Church bill the issue cannot be doubted.

The Star thinks that since the speech of the Arch Bishop of Canterbury everything appears immediately favorable to the passage of the bill.

Mr. Bright has written a letter to a meeting in Birmingham, in which he says: "If the House of Lords delay the passage of the Irish Church bill, they will stimulate the discussion of the subject which might slumber for years. The value of a Constitution which gives a majority in one House in favor of and in the other House against a given policy may be questioned. Why is it that when the Crown and the Commons are in harmony with the nation, the Lords are in direct opposition? As long as the House of Lords act in harmony with the country, they may go on for a long time. When they thwart its course, they may meet with unpleasent accidents."

Mr. Bright concludes with the hope that the counsel of a few good and wise men in the House may prevail.

The Admiralty Court has ordered the sale of the steamer Alexandria, built for the confederates, and the proceeds directed to be lodged in the hands of the courts.

In the contest at Nottingham, for Sir Robert Clifton's seat in Parliament, Charles Seely was elected over Mr. Digby Seymour.

Murphy, the anti-Irish agitator, has been arrested in Birmingham.

The Times to-day says: "The restoration of tranquility in Paris was the only event which could reasonably be anticipated where the citizens were indifferent and the military force immense. It rejoices that the inevitable result was obtained without bloodshed. Nothing now hinders the Emperor from adopting the constitutional course which the elections invite. Another battle in the streets might be made cause for the indefinite postponement of public liberties. Paris, on second thought, chose the more moderate among the Liberal candidates for the Legislature, and by her indifference rebuked the attempted violence. There can be no excuse now for holding the city too hostile for conciliation.

LONDON, June 15.—In the House of Lords to-night, a great number of petitions against the passage of the Irish Church bill were presented.

Lord Cairns gave notice of a question, to ascertain if the Government intended to endorse the opinions contained in Mr. Bright's letter to the Birmingham meeting.

The debate was then resumed. Lord Gray said he felt all the circumstances under which the bill was sent to this House, but urged the Earl of Harrowby to reconsider his motion for postponement, in view of the consequences which might result, should it be carried. If the bill passed, it must be materially amended. The House of Lords now had, but might not hereafter have, power to remould the measure. The result of the late elections was emphatically in favor of the bill, and it would be imprudent for the Lords to oppose it. If they were successful for the moment, they would soon have it returned, perhaps in more objectionable forms. He urged the consideration of amendments in a fair and conciliatory spirit, and exhorted the House to accept the measure with dignity, and not incur the odium of the people by collision with the House of Commons, which represented the deliberate opinion of the nation.

The Archbishop of Dublin complained of the hard, ungenerous and illiberal manner in which the Church was treated, and denounced the bill. He thought if it was necessary it might have been less severe.

The Bishop of St. David's said the superior sanctity of property was not to be considered, but the best means to apply it in view of the public need. He disapproved of excessive demonstrations of Protestantism, and said he valued its ascendancy, not as it was political and religious, but as it was moral. He considered the Irish church an anomaly. It had failed to fulfil its mission and promoted discord. He urged the passage of the bill to a second reading and afterwards the introduction of amendments.

The Duke of Richmond, though he felt the injustice of the bill, after great hesitation had resolved to act in opposition to his party. He was sensible of the inexpediency of popular agitation and was convinced that the constitutional course was to pass the bill, after amending objectionable clauses, and leave the responsibility of accepting the amendments or withdrawing the bill on the Government.

The Bishop of Petersborough opposed the bill. He appealed to the House to act firmly and impartially, and not humiliate themselves by abdicating abjectly their constitutional position, beseeching the nation to spare them because they were utterly contemptible and useless.

Speeches were also made against the bill by Lords Chelmsford and Chancarty, and in favor of it by Lords Penscance, DeGray and Monck.

The House, after a protracted debate, at one o'clock again adjourned without action.

THE PRIZE RING.

The Fight Between Allen and McCoole—A Terrible Encounter of Twenty Minutes Duration—McCoole Whipped, but Allen Claimed to have Fought Foul.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—The prize fighting parties left here about nine o'clock this morning on the steamer Louisville, and steamed down the river. At a point opposite Carondolet McCoole was taken on board, and Allen will be picked up further down. The battle is to take place on Foster's Island, eight or nine miles below Jefferson barracks, which point will be reached about one o'clock.

A brief telegram from an eye-witness says the fight took place on Foster's Island, about twenty-five miles below the city. Castors were shied into the ring about half-past one, but the fighting did not commence until three o'clock. McCoole knocked Allen down in the first round. The fighting was very severe until the eighth round, when Allen struck a foul blow and McCoole was declared the winner. Both men were considerably punished, but McCoole is said to have been much the most distressed. Particulars cannot be given until the boat arrives.

The following is a fuller account of the prize fight:

When stripped both men presented a fair appearance, but Allen much the best. McCoole's friends were much disappointed at his condition, he being fat and showed unskilful training. The men entered the ring at quarter to two, but the fighting did not commence until some time after. McCoole won the choice of ground, and offered to bet Allen $2,000. Allen made a speech, saying he was an Englishman, had no money and could not accept McCoole's offer, but asked for fair play. The men then went to work with the following result:

First round—Men approached each other cautiously, but with confidence; a few exchanges and then hasty hitting at close quarters; finally, McCoole planted a heavy blow near Allen's eye, knocking him down. [First knock down and first blood claimed for McCoole.]

Second round—Terrific blows in rapid succession on each other's faces, resulting finally in favor of McCoole.

Third round—Men eyed each other with the ferocity of gladiators, and after a few severe blows they clinched and fell together. The struggle caused intense excitement, and McCoole's friends realized that the giant had met a man worthy of his steel.

Fourth round—McCoole came to the scratch with his face bleeding profusely from a terrible gash under his right eye. Allen fought cautiously, evidently husbanding his strength. McCoole got in heavily on Allen's ribs; the latter went down to avoid another sockdolager. The wildest excitement now began to prevail at the seeming change in the prospects of the fight.

Fifth round—Heavy fighting throughout; there were desperate exchanges during which Tom administered two or three terrific blows in Mike's face, which seemed to be a mass of blood from the forehead to the chin. He had terrible gsshes under both eyes and his face was terribly disfigured. The combatants clenched, and after a desperate struggle both went down together near the ropes. The round was decidedly in favor of Allen.

Sixth round—Heavy hitting. Allen seemed to be the freshest of the two and looked very complacent, dancing round his opponent with ease. After some sharp hitting, the round resulted in his favor.

Seventh round—McCoole presented a forlorn appearance, and was not very rapid in responding to time. Allen looked fresh and cheerful, and after some exchanges of not a very satisfactory character to McCoole, Allen decided to go to grass, in order to escape another of those terrific blows from the giant's sledge hammer.

Eighth round—The backers of McCoole urged him to make short work of his opponent, but in vian, for the prestige of the giant was rapidly being demolished before the superior skill and tactics of his antagonist. Mike struck out wildly with his right, but missed his mark, his opponent fighting on his "pototo trap" with terrible effect. McCoole received terrible punishment in this round, and it became evident that the fight would come to a speedy termination, the giant being knocked partly off his pins, which terminated this round, Allen looking bland and serene at the close.

Ninth and last round—Both men were slow in responding to the call; the noise and excitement being intense, the referee could not be heard; the combatants approached each other and engaged in terribly close quarters. In a few seconds they clinched and rolled over side by side, and in close conflict. While both were hugging mother earth, Allen placed his hands on the eyes of McCoole, gouging them desperately, when the cry of "foul" was raised from McCoole's corner. The ropes were cut, and the wildest excitement prevailed for a few moments, but the crowd soon after dispersed towards the boat. The referee was afraid to give his decision. Several pistols were presented at his head, but he refused to decide the matter until he reached St. Louis.

Allen outfought McCool all the way through and to all appearances would have won the fight if it had been allowed to proceed. McCoole was much blown and badly punished, and was in reality whipped. The fight lasted about twenty minutes. The brief accounts, so far as received, have been put on the street, and extras are selling with wonderful rapidity. Great excitement prevails and much disappointment is expressed at the evident inability of McCoole to cope with Allen. The boat which the party is on will not be here before eight o'clock. Nothing further, therefore, can be learned at present.

LATEST ABOUT THE FIGHT.

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—The steamer Louisville, with the prize fighting party, arrived here about eight o'clock this evening. It seems to be the very general opinion of those present at the fight, and competent to judge, that there was neither a foul blow struck nor any gouging done by Allen. It is also quite a general belief that McCoole's friends determined from the outset that Allen should neither win the fight nor yet the money. It is freely said that McCoole's friends acted in the most shameful manner, displaying knives and pistols with the view of intimidating Allen, and in other ways showing that they intended to have everything their own way. The rope is stated to have been cut as early as the sixth round, but as Allen was evidently the master of the situation, neither he nor his friends made a point of it. The conduct of the whole affair was so outrageous that it is denounced by many of the roughs themselves, who say that prize fighting is sunk so low that it is a swindle and a cheat and a mere struggle for spoils. The second round was not in favor of McCoole, as previously reported, but on the contrary Allen punished his antagonist very severely, and from that time it was evident McCoole was no match for Allen.

No decision has yet been given by the referee, but it is stated it will be announced in the morning papers. McKinney, the referee, was afraid to decide in the ring against a foul, for fear of being killed on the spot. Of this there seems to be no doubt, and the reservation of the decision is believed to be favorable to Allen, and to give McKinney time to leave town and escape the vengeance of McCoole's friends.

GEORGIA.

The Supreme Court Decides Negroes Eligible to Office.

ATLANTA, June 25.—The Supreme Court of Georgia to-day rendered a decision that a negro is eligible to office, Judges Brown and McCoy in favor and Judge Warner dissenting.

Judge McCoy held that the State was without a civil government before the Convention that made the present Constitution; that the blacks and whites participated in getting up the Convention and framing the Constitution, and it was against its spirit to exclude blacks or whites from the privileges unless expressly prohibited.

Judge Brown claimed that the Fourteenth Amendment forbids anybody being deprived of its privileges, and as the code gives citizens the right to hold office, and the Constitution makes him a citizen and does not forbid him to hold office, it was not the intention of the law to break the Fourteenth amendment and deprive the negro of his right.

Judge Warner held that the negro was a new political creature in the body politic; that he must hold office by special enactment; that the code which defined the powers of citizens was enacted before the negro became a citizen, and therefore it did not apply to him; that he did not have the right to hold office under the common law, nor by statute, since he was made a citizen, but the Convention voted down the proposition to make him eligible to office, and until he was specially authorized to hold office he was ineligible.

Exciting Game of Base Ball.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 15.—The base ball match on the Union grounds, Williamsburg, between the Cincinnati and Mutual clubs, was decided this afternoon in favor of the Cincinnati by four runs to two. There never was its equal for sharp playing. The betting was one hundred dollars to eighty dollars before commencing on the Mutuals. The Mutuals made nothing in the seven first innings and one each in the eighth and ninth, when the betting became even. The Cincinnatians made one run each in the first and second, and two in the ninth. About four thousand persons were present. Charles Walker, of the Active Club, was Uupire. To-morrow the Cincinnati Club will play the Atlantics and Thursday the Eckfords.

The game to-day was the best and sharpest full game on record, hardly a mistake occurring on either side, and no ball passing the Cincinnati catcher.

—The Chief Engineer of Buffalo and several firemen were injured yesterday, by the explosion of benzine at a slight fire in the oil store of Osgood & Farley, in that city.

NATURE AND ART IN EUROPE.

The Bay of Naples—The Landing at Capri—Journey to the Hotel—The Peasant Coquette—Capri French—The Hotel—The Mountain—Excursion—Villa Jovis—The Hermit—The Green Grotto—The Felice Family—Woman's Labor—A Chapel—Beggars—A Cosmopolitan Landlord—The Return.

From our Special Correspondent.

CAPRI, May 15th.

Every one knows that Capri is an island in the Bay of Naples, but every one who goes to Naples ought to know more than that, for there is no place in Italy that better repays a visit.

Naples itself was so dusty, crowded and dirty that we were only too glad to get away from it to Sorrento. From there you have even more lovely views of Mout Vesuvius and the Bay than from Naples itself, and the quiet and repose of the country is far more in keeping with the surpassing loveliness of that far famed Bay than the heat and bustle of a great city. For days, Capri lay before our eyes, a blue cloud by day, a golden one at sunset, when its sharp outlines seemed to melt into the glowing western sky. We longed to know it more nearly, so one bright morning we set off to see what beauties were hidden within it. Six stout rowers pulled us out of the Bay of Sorrento, and the moment we rounded the point and a fresh breeze struck us, in came the oars and up went the great triangular sail. Never will an Italian pull an oar if a breeze can be coaxed to help him along! The deep blue water flashed in the sunlight; the strange looking crew, with their brown bare feet and legs and queer costumes, lounged on the seats and kept an incessant chattering and laughing in their unknown tongue. Capri grew more and more distinct, rising in immense perpendicular cliffs from the sea, and as we drew nearer opening into green and fruitful valleys.

As our boat approached the shore the whole population seemed rushing to meet us; down the steep banks came the donkey-girls, one tugging at the bridle, one belaboring the unhappy beast behind; old men and women, young men and maidens, all came rushing with one accord, with deafening cries and shouts. Half a dozen old hags struggled together to place a bench for us to step out on, and as I walked along it I was seized by my ankles, my hands, my clothes, and stunned with cries: "Signora! bella Signora! uno baioc, uno baioc." In sheer desperation I seated myself on the first donkey I saw, and the guide, announcing her victory by shrill cries of triumph, dragged me off at a trot. In vain G—— called after me, in vain I expostulated and declared I would not move one step more without him! He was mounted before he well knew how, on another donkey. We had thrown some "baiocchi" (a baiocchi is one cent) to the crowd, and were rattling away up the bank. When we had time to draw breath we found we had escaped very well. G. went before with a small boy leading his donkey, and a very handsome girl walking behind to do the beating. I followed, with a black-eyed little girl, about six years old, leading my donkey, a quite unnecessary operation, but worth a baiocchi to her, and a rather homely girl for beater. By my side walked the sun-burned Captain of our little boat, carrying my bag, and the procession was closed by a small boy carrying my shawl. Only one full-grown man, two women, two donkeys and three small children to convey two travelers a short half mile to the hotel!

The handsome girl before me began a most unblushing course of flirtation with G——, she laughed and showed her white teeth, she tossed her pretty head till her black hair shone again in the sunlight and with those splendid dark eyes and glowing brown complexion, well might she know her beauty and be proud of it! She caught our names and shouted them back to her companion, she told her own and part of her family history, and finally actually coaxed G—— into paying half a franc for four small red shells about as big as beans! My attendant, too, brought out a paper of shells and coral and tried hard to induce me to buy, but a girl, and a rather homely one, had no chance at all with me. Our Captain fared better, all the way up the steep ascent he was coaxing me to ask my husband to give him more than he had engaged to pay. "All that went to the owner of the boat, Signora, I want a little something for myself to drink. Signora, he will give it to me if you will ask him, &c., &c." Of course I could not resist such delicate flattery. I promised and he got his desire.

The way these common people pick up French is astonishing. The common sailor, the donkey drivers, the cabmen, waiters, and railway porters, all speak it. It is generally very bad French indeed, and requires some little practice to understand, having a strong Italian flavor to it; but knowing not one word of the language, we have had no trouble whatever. Of course this only holds good on the main routes of travel. One donkey driver told me he got the priest to teach him when he was a little boy, "because all the English speak French"—so he "studied his profession" as a waiter in Germany once told me he did.

But to return to our cavalcade. We all clattered up some stone steps, the donkeys walking up like Christians, and into a paved court, where our landlord came forth to meet us. His wife was a nice English woman, and we were soon comfortably settled, a few small coins sending off our train quite content. Our hotel had once been a Bishop's palace, and still had an air of decayed grandeur, with lofty arched ceilings, great halls and hanging balconies. After a nice English dinner, we set off for an excursion to the "Villa Jovis," a ruined Villa of the Emperor Tiberius, of whose luxury and cruelty traditions still linger among the peasants. This time we had two stout white ponies. They must have been born and bred on the Island, for so steep is it that it is all up or down stairs, and these sure-footed creatures seem not to mind it in the least. The cliffs are very high and steep, and all the slopes are terraced, little low stone walls being built seemingly to keep the soil from slipping into the sea, and up these terraces the ponies and donkies scramble. No words can convey an idea of the strange beauty and grandeur of the views on every hand. To our right rose a great wall of grey rocks, eighteen hundred feet high, sloping away into a rich valley at its base, and in the centre of which rose a round conical hill, terraced to its very summit, and crowned by a grey ruined castle. Everywhere the eye was delighted by the contrast of wild and savage rocks and the richest verdure—figs, olives, mulberry and orange trees, vineyards and fields of waving grain, tropical cacti and brilliant wild flowers in the greatest profusion clothed the terraces close by the savage cliffs. As we rose higher we could see the sea on both sides of the island at once, on one side stretching away blue and unbroken to the open sea, on the other across the bay where Mount Vesuvius cut against the pure sky with its long gentle slope of matchless beauty, crowned with its delicate plume of smoke and with white cities peacefully nestled at its feet.

With many a blow and sharp gutteral cry, our two little guides, bare-footed, bare-headed girls of twelve and thirteen, got our ponies up the steep ascent. There was a restaurant with this cheerful inscription over the door: "Here Tiberius used to throw his victims into the sea." Of course we went in and gazed down the steep and horrible place, eight hundred feet to the sea. I hope the poor "victims" were dead long before they reached those cruel, sharp rocks at the bottom! Then to the crumbling ruins of the Villa, only a few arched rooms are left, now used for stables for large-eyed gentle cows, a few bits of mosaic floors, of broken columns and marble steps. The summit of the cliff is now occupied by a small and ugly church, which a hermit takes care of. He also has a book for travelers to inscribe their names in and a very big notice asking for a trifle for the poor hermit. He is rather too fat and dirty to be very interesting, and the place rather too much frequented to permit him to be much of a "hermit."

The next day we took a little boat and coasted along the other side of the island. The grand cliffs, all gashed and scarred by storms, rose high above us, from 800 to 1,800 feet in height; here and there a solitary rock stood out from the shore, one pierced with a natural arch. There are only two or three landing-places on the island, so bold and rugged are the cliffs. Soon our boat turned under a great overhanging archway of rock, that seemed to threaten to fall and crush us. This was the entrance to the Green Grotto. We rowed under a low natural arch. The water was of the most delicate wonderful green; it seemed to hold the light within it, and cast a pale, spectral glimmering reflection on the rocks overhead. Turning a sharp corner, we entered a small cave. The roof was like a brilliant mosaic, stained with minerals, blue, green and red. The waves rolled in in long surges of such a wonderful living green, that words cannot describe it, breaking on a narrow string of white beach, with a great roar; all the cave was filled with the spray and mist of their breakers; it shook and quivered with the shock and roar, with its delicate purple hue throwing an air of perfect enchantment over every object. We seemed to have penetrated to the very home of the great sea, and its beauty was awful!

The day before we had seen the famous Blue Grotto; there the effect of color is far more wonderful. The blue is far more intense and peculiar, the grotto very much more lofty; but it can only be entered in calm weather, and to me the thunder of the great waves in the Green Grotto more than makes up in grandeur for the quiet beauty of color in the other. However, most travelers would not agree with me, and I can only advise every one to see and decide for himself.

At the end of the island our ponies met us—this time the little girls were accompanied by their mother. The father "Felice," is, as his name suggests, a happy man. He owns two stout ponies, a stout wife, and these two half-grown girls, and should marriage deprive him of them in course of time, he has a brood of smaller ones to take their place. Felice is stout, handsome and quite the gentleman in his dress and manners; he has a book full of recommendations from Mrs. Oliphant and other English great people. He sits in the shade and smokes his cigar, while his wife and daughters trot from one end of the island to the other, driving the ponies and attending the strangers. Mrs. Felice looks ten years older than her husband, is lean, brown and withered. She is dressed in rags, goes bare-footed and bareheaded, and the girls are her copies in miniature. When we arrive, after a long scramble, she and the girls stand by, panting and hot, while Felice, cool and composed, pockets the money. They expect nothing, for Felice gets the universal additional fee "to drink;" but they look pleased and delighted if you slip any sum, however small, into their hands, and the girls generally ask for "uno bioc." What would that man say should he hear a breath of woman's rights? Mrs. Felice at least has "the right to labor." They seem very merry with their lot. As we climbed those steep terraces we often told them to stop and rest, but they would laugh and say they were not tired, and would constantly make little excursions up the banks and into the fields to gather flowers for us.

We stopped once at a little way-side inn, where, sitting under a porch covered with green boughs, we drank the sweet Capri wine and eat delicious oranges—enough for ourselves and our three attendants for a mere trifle. Once we stopped to see a church, evidently a great wonder of art in the eyes of the people. The floor was covered with tiles painted to represent the Creation. There were Adam and Eve, the angel with a wonderful flaming sword, and all the animals from the elephant to the mouse. On the walls were many votive offerings, silver hearts, arms and hands, and one picture, painted by the order, and presented by five seamen. It was a wonderful representation of very wild waves. A big ship had thrust its bowsprit through the sail of a little one, the five seamen were making a great outcry, and way up in the two corners was the madonna standing on the black clouds, and a smiling saint.

The whole population had assembled outside the door, to stare as we came out; they almost forgot to beg, so busy were they in using their eyes. This universal begging gets to be absurd; people who are by no means in want, do it as a matter of course. All the children run after you holding out roses and wild flowers, or offering nothing, simply uttering the universal cry for "uno bioc!" One pretty girl, carrying a heavy sailor's chest on her head, hastened to set it down that she might extend her hand, and say "Signore, very tired, a bioc!" She got her penny, for her load was one a stout man would have grumbled at. The women soon lose their beauty under their hard work, but when young are very beautiful.

All the peasants about Naples have the strangest way of dropping the last syllable of their words; Sorrento become "Sorrent;" Amalfi, "Amalf;" Signorita, "Signorit," and the ever present biocco, "bioc."

We were greatly puzzled as to the nationality of our landlord; he spoke English fluently, yet with some strange slips—when we got our bill it was explained, for on the back were some advertisements ingeniously arranged to suit all customers; the first in English, spoke of the English landlady and the fine views; the second in French, dwelt much on the good wines; the third in German, said the landlord was German, and the prices of both the French and German were two francs less than the English.

Our charming visit drew to its close. We had seen a more primitive and handsome peasantry, and nature under a newer and more lovely phase than anywhere else in Italy, and we could have lingered long in that lovely Island. Four stout oarsmen took us back to Sorrento, actually working harder than any Italians I ever saw. It was very calm, so their oars had to do all the work. Their dress is very slight, a coarse linen shirt, and trowsers cut short at the knee, with a cap, which is only a long bag hanging over on one side. Such stout brown legs and arms! muscles that an athlete might envy and a painter long to copy! They stand and push the oar, throwing the whole weight of their body upon it, and they sing and laugh for "maccaroni," with the highest good humor. One merry fellow who could speak a few words of English, made constant adroit allusions to "maccaroni," encouraging the others to renewed exertions by assuring them "Il Signor would give them quantities of maccaroni at Sorrento." Making suggestive pantomime with his fingers and mouth, showing how fast he would eat it, singing song after song, in which the "Isola Bella" figured largely, but all of them had the singular peculiarity of ending with a refrain of "Maccaroni." Really, these people are so adroit, so good natured and cheerful with all their inveterate begging, that you cannot help giving to them.

Gradually the deep green valleys and terraces of Capri faded away, then the bold perpendicular cliffs lost their gray hue, and the beautiful island faded away into the well known dark blue cloud, whose high, sharp edge, cutting clear against the sky, no one can ever forget having once seen. FRANCISCA.

General Thomas on the Way to the Pacific.

Among our passengers was Gen. Geo. H. Thomas, en route for his new field—the entire Pacific coast, with headquarters at San Francisco. We of the East are hardly aware of the admiration, the enthusiasm, the personal affection for Thomas throughout the West. Everywhere one hears him spoken of as "Old Reliable," "Pap Thomas," "The Rock of Chickamauga," "That Splendid Old Man." In point of fact, his age is only fifty-two; but his grave, kindly demeanor does carry a paternal suggestion. He is certainly one of the finest characters brought out by the war. President Lincoln, when first desired to make him a Major General, replied with a distrust born of many disappointments. "No; he is from the South; I will wait till he earns it." Thomas heard of this—and how gloriously did he earn the Major Generalship and every honor he has received. He was always at this post, and for three years he did not once see his wife. He never got whipped; he never complained of anything; he never accepted any promotion until it was fairly thrust upon him; "he never committed an act that had to be explained or apologized for."

Since the war his rare qualities have grown steadily upon the people. When he declined the house offered to him by the Cincinnatians, he did it with perfect modesty and unostentatiousness. "The Government," he said, "has always paid me amply, and all my wants are provided for. To accept such a present would not be consistent with my sense of duty." A few weeks ago some of his old officers in Nashville—in token of their affection, as he was about leaving for the West, proffered him a table service of silver. He replied: "I am really touched by this evidence of your regard, but I can not accept it. In my judgment it would be injurious to the discipline of the Army for officers to receive gifts from those who are or have been their subordinates." Some have thought Thomas over-fastidious on this subject; but the American people are now in a mood to pardon a great deal of fastidiousness in that direction.

General Thomas would attract notice in any crowd. He is large, broad-shouldered, massive, with hair and beard brown, but now turning to gray, mild, kindly eyes and prominent nose—a strong, marked face. He inherited no property, but by careful, frugal habits, he has saved a competence from his salary. He has no children. This is his second visit to California; fifteen years ago when he was a Captain in the Third Artillery, he was stationed at Fort Yuma for twelve months. He and his staff are as delighted as school-boys turned loose to escape from Kentucky and West Tennessee into a thoroughly loyal atmosphere.—Omaha Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

THE Oil Wells in Ramree, British Burmah, have recently been examined by an English civil officer. The number of the wells is not mentioned, but the deepest is described. It is forty-eight feet, deep, with the walls supported by strong timber work. In order to obtain the oil, two boys are sent down the well to scoop out the liquid petroleum from a hollow four inches square. The product of each well is twelve quarts a day. The oil when brought to the surface of the ground looks like a blue white water with a dark sediment. The surface liquid is the oil, and the apparent sediment is pure water. The oil, when poured into a receiver, gives out brilliant straw-colored rays and emits a strong, pungent, gaseous smell. It is used for light, but is highly inflammable. In Upper Burmah there are several hundred wells dug in the earth to the depth of three hundred feet, and yielding an unlimited supply of olive green oil, turning brown on exposure to the air. The working of the Burmah wells has been seriously affected by the supply obtained from the petroleum springs in Pennsylvania. Since the terrible railroad accident at Abergele, Wales, arising from the explosion of petroleum, it is stated that more than one-half of the English insurance companies refuse to take any risks on coal oil.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P.M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa.

RIVER NEWS.

The river was receding slowly last evening with five feet three inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks. Weather yesterday was cloudy and cool, for the season.

The Messenger, from Minneapolis, is the only arrival we have to report. As will be seen by card, she is announced for a return trip.

The Zanesville packet Julia No. 2, was sold yesterday to Capt. C. R. Stull, he having bought the interest of Jas. C. McVay, Capt. Coulson and his brother—price, $15,500. Capt. Stull will take command, and he, we understand, owns the entire boat.

The Grey Eagle, Capt. C. L. Brennan, is the regular packet for Parkersburg today, leaving promptly at noon.

Capt. Jas. F. Kenniston, of Cincinnati, is still here prospecting. He has found no boat to suit him, and it is possible that he may yet turn in and build. In the meantime, he is taking a look at Pittsburgh, visiting many of her manufacturing establishments, and other places of interest.

The Maggie Hays, Capt. B. C. Martin, is filling up steadily for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will probably get out this evening.

The Kate Putnam, R. C. Gray and Camelia are laid up.

The Collier left for Cincinnati with a tow of coke and brick. The brick are to be used in the construction of the new railroad bridge at Cincinnati.

—The Leonidas left New Orleans for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

—Alf. Sanford is Supervising Inspector at St. Louis, vice D. G. Taylor, removed.

—Captain Sam. Houston has assumed the duties and responsibilties of Supervising Inspector at Louisville.

—Captain W. W. Fenton, of the Kate Robinson, has been seriously ill at his residence, in Covington. He was improving on Sunday.

—The Louisville Courier-Journal, of Saturday, says: Captain Philip Hocker, of this city, has received a letter from Pittsburgh making inquiries for Andrew Denison, a pilot, who left Pittsburgh thirty or thirty-five years ago, and up to a few years ago was living in this State. By the decease of his father, in Pittsburgh, a large amount of money is left unclaimed, and Denison is the only heir.

—The Wheeling Intelligencer, of Saturday, says: We are informed that Deputy Marshal W. H. Irwin paid his respects to the steamer Emma Graham, at Parkersburg, on Thursday. The Marshal levied an attachment on the boat and tied her up. Her owners not appreciating the Deputy's way of forming attachments, gave bond, and their steamer was released from custody.

—The Belle Lee was on Friday attached at the suit of her builders, seventeen in number, in the Chancery Court. The amount involved is $113,000. She cost $163,000.

—The Leonora was tied up at Memphis, Tuesday, at the suit of the steward, to whom it is alleged she owes $200.

—The Cincinnati steamer Swallow sunk at the head of Island 21, on Friday in nine feet water. She was a side wheel steamer, owned by Capt. Henry A. Jones, Capt. F. Y. Batchelor and Capt. John C. Reno. She was probably valued at $25,000, and insured in offices in Cincinnati. When she sunk she was en route for New Orleans from Cincinnati.

—The Great Republic passed Memphis on Saturday, with her guards dragging in the water.

—Steamboating does not appear to be a losing thing thing everywhere. Capt. E. B. Ward, the wealthy lake steamer owner, of Detroit, returns a net income for 1868, of $203,000, or about $700 per day. This is exclusive of his profits on bonds, bank, railroad, insurance and other corporation stocks. His total income was, probably, about $365,000.

—A Gallipolis special to the Cincinnati Commercial says: The towboat Charleston, sunk at Cabin Creek, in the Kanawha, early in May, has just been successfully raised. Her commander, Capt. Jas. H. Morris, of Louisville, has labored day and night, under many disadvantages, and deserves much credit for his success. It was said she could not be raised. She floated some days ago, but had to be run on a bar and a new bulk head put in. She now lies at the Charleston wharf. She will go in the dock at Middleport for repairs.

—A Cairo special from the same paper has the following: While the steamer David Watts was at the wharf, to-day, pilots George Clark and Henry Porter became involved in a difficulty, and Clark was stabbed several times with a small penknife. The wounds are severe but not dangerous.

U. S. BONDS at Frankfort, 86½@86⅝.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 137⅞.

MINISTER McMAHON has not yet been officially heard from.

STRAGGLING bands of Indians are again committing depredations in the West. The good Quaker guns have not yet been fairly placed in position.

WE publish an account of a brutal exhibition in the "manly" art of self defense which took place at St. Louis yesterday. A national law is wanted to put an end to such disgraceful proceedings.

THE assault of the Commercial on the Administration in its labored war article yesterday was inexcusable, unless, indeed, it was blind to the proper deductions to be derived from the sanguinary lucubration.

WE CONGRATULATE our friends on the fact that the war fever has passed its height, and may now be regarded as substantially over. When the Commercial champions war with England it is hardly necessary to pray for peace—that finishes the talk forever.

THE Democratic papers in New England have quotations proving success for the Democratic party in their next Pennsylvania campaign, and horrible things done by the Republicans, these they credit to what they call a Radical paper, the State Guard, which has furnished them with plenty of capital.

TWENTY FOUR States, including Indiana, have ratified the XVth Amendment. Vermont will, beyond all doubt, follow the good example. Mississippi, Texas and Virginia will be admitted into the Union on its adoption, and thus the full three-fourths of States requisite to finally adopt the amendment are obtained.

THE Commercial, with its usual perspicacity, yesterday published no less than three columns of an editorial breathing the spirit of war on the Alabama claims. In view of late out-givings the leader does not read so well as it might under other circumstances. Such twaddling war nonsense is in strange contrast with the calm and pacific, but resolute attitude taken by the Administration on the Alabama question.

IT IS announced that the contract for the construction of the Buffalo and Washington Railroad has been let, and that work will soon commence. The route strikes the New York and Erie at Olean, and from thence, eastwardly, makes connection with the Buffalo, Bradford and Pittsburgh road, which taps the McKean county bituminous coal regions, having its terminus at Lafayette. The latter road is leased to the Erie Railway Company, of New York, and is operated as a branch of that road.

THE Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a circular declaring that property seized by any Internal Revenue officer will not be released until the officer making the seizure, and also the Assessor and Collector of the District, have reported the facts in the case, with their own individual recommendations. This is a wise precaution, and will materially strengthen the hands of those charged with turning up rogues. We have heard of cases where releases have been asked at Washington even before the Revenue officers here thoroughly understood them.

ON THE 18th of May the annual general meeting of the teachers of Germany took place in Berlin, and four thousand were in attendance. Papers were read urging that knowledge and instruction should be free, and on other subjects, but the most significant of all was a discourse on labor and capital, in which it was maintained that political and social economy should form a portion of all primary instruction, and that it is necessary in our times to give children some notions regarding the State These views were adopted by the Assembly. In America, where the children are to take so much part in the future government of the country, it would be thought that these sciences are of more importance than in monarchical Germany, and yet in how few of our primary schools are they taught at all!

THE position of the Catholic Church is viewed with anxiety now by many of the most learned and earnest members of that communion in Germany. The See of Rome has chosen a moment when it is surrounded by difficulties, to urge extreme measures against some of its most powerful defenders and adherents in Germany, and naturally, much dissatisfaction is felt there on this account. This alone would be of interest even at this distance, but what is of infinitely more significance, is the fact that the German Catholics are beginning seriously to consider whether they cannot break off all connection with Rome and still remain Catholics, by organizing themselves into an independent National Church. In Stuttgardt meetings to advance this object have already been held, and the whole movement in Wurtemburg is led by quiet, intelligent men, who are capable of pressing it to a successful termination. In Bavaria the same revolution is in progress, as indeed it is all over Catholic Germany, and we look for further developments with great interest.

WE do not assert that the United States Government needs more pasters and folders, but we do believe that they ought to have better ones, and especially in the Postoffice Department. The new postage stamps are much handsomer than the old ones, and are really neat in design and execution, but all this is thrown away on the folders and the men who put the rows of little holes in them. Theoretically these dividing lines occupy the blank spaces between the stamps, practically it seems they cut off the cow-catcher of a locomotive or the tail of a pony with utter recklessness. Then the pasters are theoretically supposed to make the stamps adhesive, practically they put a thin wash with a sweetish taste over the backs of the stamps which all comes off when wet, and the letter, on which some ignoramus has credulously placed a stamp without having added some paste, is detained for postage. If this pasting and folding can be better done why is it not? If the dividing lines must go through the engravings, why have any engravings at all? If the stamps can not be made adhesive, why have any stamps at all?

MANY persons dealing with the Alabama question appear to entirely lose sight of the fact that England eventually acknowledged her error and the justice of the claim for damages made on her by our Government. She entered into a solemn treaty which provided for the appointment of a Commission to fairly and honestly ascertain the actual damages sustained from the depredations of the Alabama and other Confederate cruisers, whose award, had the treaty been ratified, she would have accepted as final, and promptly discharged the obligation. Standing ready to pay the award, acknowledging its correctness, and to make all needful apology and concession, Mr. SUMNER's speech found her. His demands that the offending nation should not only setttle the account of actual material losses sustained, but likewise of a whole train of damages, resulting from a protraction of the rebellion, swelling the amount to two thousand million dollars, was regarded, by England, and very properly, too, as an outrageous proposition derogatory alike to her National Honor and Intelligence. Before this enormous claim would be recognized or paid there must be war with that Government; but if the bill covered only the actual losses to our commerce from the operations of the privateers, if it is reasonable and business-like, it will be promptly met and paid. What more should we ask?

A man's workshop burns down and in consequence thereof, having no place, his trade leaves him and he loses, perhaps, an hundred thousand dollars, which he might have made had his business been permitted to go on uninterrupted. He had an insurance policy on the building protecting him against loss arising from fire. What rule of equity would sanction his recovery from the company on his policy any more damages than those truly sustained in the destruction of property? Would any sane business man think of putting in a claim for exemplary damages on an insurance policy? If the rule prevailed there could be no way of discovering where the train of damaging effects following a fire ended.

This is precisely the view which should be taken of the Alabama question. England is willing to pay the material damages, but will not recognize the consequential damages—what we lost, but not all we may suppose we have lost and continue to lose by the prolongation of the recent war, which, without British support, Mr. SUMNER thinks would have been much earlier ended.

EXTRA WOMEN.

In Great Britain the number of women exceeds the number of men in a proportion which grows larger every year. In England and Wales there are almost three millions of women between twenty and forty years of age, and of these 1,248,000 are unmarried. Why they are thus does not enter into the question; for whatever the reason, the appalling fact remains that that many there now are, and that the number is steadily increasing. That the extravagance of the age prevents many men from marrying is undoubtedly true, but if all the men were married, a not insignificant army of spinsters would still remain, so that it is no wonder that the woman's labor question is becoming serious. As it is in Great Britian, so is it in those of the United States which have been settled for the longest time. In Massachusetts for instance, where the population is but twelve hundred thousand, there were, at the taking of the last census, forty thousand more women than men. As we are not yet ready to adopt the simple Chinese system of drowning all superfluous female infants, we must take it for granted that these women must live, and in some way solve the question of how they are to do it. Time honored custom and multitudinous precedent ordain that the stronger sex must find the means of subsistence for the weaker, but no provision has been made by monogamous peoples for the time when the weaker sex becomes numerically the stronger. In England, where the labor market is overstocked, it is by no means easy to provide for this emergency, but in America, all that is necessary is—not to concede suffrage to women, as some seem to think—but merely to overcome a deep rooted prejudice, which exists against a woman working at and receiving wages for any labor for which she is fit or may be fitted. There is enough in this country for every one to do, and as soon as this prejudice is demolished the question will be solved for many years to come.

THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

We take the following very important Washington special from Monday's New York Times:

Since the discussion of the Alabama question, both at home and abroad, has taken such a wide scope, and since there has been such a decided reaction from the positions of Mr. Sumner's speech, and since the proposition to make the question a party issue meets with little serious countenance, it becomes more than usually interesting to know precisely where the Administration stands at present. The Gladstone Ministry will, in a few days, officially understand our position, and there can, therefore, be no impropriety in stating the facts as they exist.

So much has been said from this point on this subject, and such vague and contradictory accounts have been given of Mr. Motley's instructions, that the public mind must be much confused respecting the precise attitude of our Government. Mr. Sumner, while never asserting in positive terms that those instructions were based on his speech, has, nevertheless, sought to convey in his conversations the impression that he had been substantially indorsed, and he has repeatedly stated that Mr. Motley and himself were in perfect accord upon the subject. This latter assertion is very possibly true. But Mr. Sumner knows what Mr. Motley's instructions are as thoroughly as does the man who wrote them, and his pride probably prevents him from making a frank admission of the completeness of his defeat. No matter what impressions he may convey in discussing the subject, it is nevertheless known here that he is much displeased with the instructions, and that they are almost entirely at variance with his views, for the following reasons:

First—Mr. Sumner wanted Mr. Motley instructed to propose a reopening of the negotiations at once on the basis of his speech. Mr. Motley's instructions were precisely the reverse of this, to-wit—to make no overtures for the reopening of negotiations at present, but await the action of the French Government and the development of events.

Second—Mr. Sumner wanted the instructions to cover the question of belligerency, which, he insists in his speech, gives this Government a claim against the British Government for damages or reparation. On the contrary, Mr. Motley was instructed to inform the British Government at the proper time that the United States, as a Government, has no claim against Great Britain for damages because of her recognition of the belligerency of the rebels.

This whole matter was maturely considered by the President, both in Cabinet and out of Cabinet, and in the light not only of our relations to Great Britain, but our relations to France, Spain and other nations which recognized the South in these discussions. The only man who stood by Mr. Sumner's position was Secretary Boutwell. Every other member of the Cabinet, as well as the President, disapproved very decidedly of the policy enunciated in Mr. Sumner's speech, and the result of their deliberations was, as has been repeatedly stated in your telegraphic dispatches, that the Administration on this question resolved upon the policy of non-action.

These I know to be the facts in the case, and they define substantially the present attitude of the Administration.

I may add one word respecting the Cuban question. The President, the Secretary of War, and possibly one or two other members of the Cabinet, were strongly desirous of taking early steps toward the recognition of the insurgents. But after a careful review of the whole situation, it was formally decided that the aspect of affairs did not warrant action by the Government. This was prior to the recent revolutionary events on the island, since which there has been no reconsideration of the subject.

It will be observed that the above closely accords with the cable telegram published yesterday, and is not at variance with the Associated Press dispatch elsewhere published this morning, and can safely be regarded as a true and faithful exposition of the policy of the Administration and the nature of the instructions imparted to Mr. MOTLEY previous to his departure for England. These developments completely sustain the views we have all along held, and show how correctly we have interpreted all the current revelations of international diplomacy and the Governmental policy. It shows clearly that the Administration entertains no idea of making a demand for indirect or consequential damages resulting from the preying on our commerce by the Confederate cruisers, which we have uniformly repudiated as unstatesmanlike in theory and utterly incapable of enforcement. Now that the attitude of the Government has been revealed, we presume the forced agitation of the question will be discarded by those who seek to make capital out of it to subserve partisan interests. The agitation of the question is most embarassing to President GRANT, who has shaped his own course in a true and statesmanlike manner, and any pressure brought to bear upon him in opposite direction in the war cry of politicians, is practically demanding that he abandon the wise position assumed. The people have never had just occasion to doubt the patriotism and integrity of the President, and they should award him proper support in his efforts to disentangle the Alabama question and arrive at its settlement in a manner satisfactory to all right-minded citizens. There is no fear that the National Honor will suffer in his keeping or that in the solution of the diplomatic problem the so long undisturbed peace between England and our own country will be shaken and our country plunged into the miseries of a foreign war.

The policy of masterly inactivity which the Administration has adopted, asserts everything and sacrifices nothing essential,—and devolves upon England all the high public responsibility involved in an early and pacific adjustment of the claims. When that Government refuses to acknowledge our just claims, or manifests undue regard for the honor of our nation, it will be time enough to cry out for war, but until then let the people continue their confidence in the statesmanship of the Executive and lend him hearty co-operation.

—At the monthly meeting of the Association for Advancement of Science, at New York, on Monday evening, a new bathometer, with which, it is claimed, accruate soundings in any depth of the ocean may be taken, was exhibited and explained.

—Governor Seymour, of British Columbia, died on the 10th of June, on board the gunboat Sparrow Hawk, while on a tour of inspection of the northern coast of British Columbia. The cause of his death was weakness and exhaustion from diarrhœa. General Harken, senior member of the Council, assumed control of the Government, pending instructions from England.

—The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and the Chicago and Rock Island Railway have commenced the sale of through tickets from Chicago to Sacramento and San Francisco for $158.35 currency, an amicable arrangement of the difficulties and misunderstandings between the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific roads having been made by which they will hereafter co-operate harmoniously.

—General Thomas has ordered a military exploration of south-eastern Nevada, with a view to ascertaining the character and resources of the country before establishing military posts there. Mining exploration in that district is limited because of the dread of Indians, and the great distance of the base of supplies. So far as penetrated, the mines have proved rich in mineral deposits, and less lacking in arable lands, timber and water, than supposed.

—George and William Geiters and Henry Burlew, tobacco merchants of Cincinnati, made an assault yesterday on Col. A. Hoagland, special agent of the Revenue Department. Hoagland was not armed and he states his assailants were, so he escaped, taking refuge in a store. One of the parties he says struck him, saying, "Damn you, I'll kill you; you seized my manufactory." Upon information from Col. Hoagland the tobacco factories of all three assailants were seized several months ago on a charge of violating the revenue law.

THE COURTS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

TUESDAY, June 15.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Smith, indicted for barratry, reported yesterday, the District Attorney entered a nolle pros. on payment of costs by prosecutor.

The first case taken up yesterday was the Commonwealth vs. Chas. Ward, indicted for aggravated assault and battery, and Commonwealth vs. John Sweeney, indicted for assault and battery. These cases originated out of a fight between Sweeney and Ward. Verdicts, guilty in both cases. Ward was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, costs of prosecution, and undergo an imprisonment of thirty days in the county jail, and Sweeney was sentenced to pay a fine of $30 and costs of prosecution.

Hugh McClain, against whom there were two indictments for assault and battery, was placed on trial, and verdicts of guilty rendered in both cases.

The sentence of the Court was that the defendant, in the first case, pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $30, and in the second case, a fine of $30, cost of prosecution and imprisonment in the county jail for the term of one month.

Stewart Sampson, indicted for aggravated assault and battery, James Haymaker prosecutor, was placed on trial and the jury returned a verdict of guilty. The prisoner was remanded to jail, there being several other charges against him.

William Johnson, a boy about sixteen years of age, was arraigned on a charge of larceny of $10, Mrs. Catharine Greeny, prosecutrix. It was alleged that on the 7th inst. defendant entered the house of prosecutrix, at East Liberty, during her absence, and asked a little girl for bread. She gave him the bread when he went out and the door was locked. Shortly afterward she saw him running out of house, and when Mrs. G. returned she missed ten dollars from a drawer. The case was submitted without argument. Jury out.

The Weather.

The following were the published indications of the last month: "From May 11th to June 9th, shows a dark, wet month; twenty-one cloudy and variable, seventeen rain, and eight clear sunshine days; probably two to three frosts; that depends upon the continuance of long northeast or east wind storms. It is most likely we shall have an abundance of thunder storms between now and July.

RECORD.

From the 11th of May to June 9th: Twenty cloudy and variable, fourteen of rain, nine of sunshine days; three days frost; six thunder showers. Average daily thermometer, 61. Average height of the river five and one-half feet. A remarkably fine month for health and agricultural growth.

As the time of frosts has past, we will give a hint, which may be a benefit to an observing agriculturalist. From November to June, especially March, April and May, when there is mingling of the winter and summer atmosphere, and plants or early productions require protection from frost, you may observe your thermometer the night previous, between eight to eleven o'clock P. M. If in the city at 50, you may expect a very slight frost. The same in the country at 45, a heavy frost. There is a difference between the city and country atmosphere of five to eight degrees, according to location. If at ten o'clock P. M., the range is from thirty-eight to forty-five, on a clear night, prepare for a frost; in the city on a clear night, at forty-five to fifty, you may know there will be frost in the country. When it is cloudy all night at those ranges, there is no danger. In September and October, there is not the same danger, at those ranges, owing to the dryness of the season, and the inherent warmth of the earth. In the spring it is the summer struggling to get out from the bonds of winter atmosphere.

Indications from June 9 to July 9th: A dark cloudy month; twenty cloudy and variable, fourteen rain, nine clear, sunshine, with several thunder storms, and no fears of a drought. It is presumed the summer will be healthy, and most abundant in production of any since 1855-'57. G. A.

PITTSBURGH, June 15th, 1869.

Convivial.

Frederick Sommers, having a few days since purchased a keg of lager, which he stowed away in his cellar, yesterday invited a couple of friends, Michael Pugh and Patrick Murphy, to share his hospitality. The friends readily accepted the invitation. The trio spent some time pleasantly together, when unfortunately some trouble occurred in relation to the quantity of beverage disposed of by each. The two guests became excited on the subject and manifested the exuberance of their feelings by soundly thrashing their host. They took their departure then. Frederick, indignant at their base ingratitude, lodged an information before Alderman Mullen against them for assault and battery. Warrants were issued. The parties all reside in the Third ward, Allegheny.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The entertainment at the Opera House this evening, on the occasion of the complimentary tendered to Mr. Frank Conklin, the gentlemanly treasurer at that establishment during the past season, by his many friends, promises to be one worthy of the occasion. It will be of a versatile character, including club swinging and other exercises by Hamill, Coulter and Dierst on the trapeze, and numerous other novelties. The house should be filled from pit to dome, as Frank is a deserving fellow.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The season at the "Old Drury," which has been a brilliant one in its way, and we believe profitable to the manager, closes to-night, on which occasion an interesting entertainment will be given.

THE CIRBUS—The Circus will be in town to-day. At ten o'clock the grand procession will take place. There will be two performances. That of the afternoon will commence at 2½ o'clock, the doors being thrown open at one. In the evening the doors will be opened at half-past five, and the performance will commence at half-past seven. Those therefore desiring to see the menagerie at one, can do so, and retire before the commencement of the circus performance. The exhibition throughout will speak for itself.

"THE STRANGER"—Miss Jean Hosmer, appears again at the Academy of Music to-night. The play of the Stranger will be presented, in which she will take the part of "Mrs. Haller." Miss Catharine Lemcette and Mr. Morton Price, two well known stars, will make their first appearance in Pittsburgh on this occasion, in the musical comedietta, entitled "Perfection."

Musical Contest at the Pittsburgh Female College.

The musical contests of the Pittsburgh Female College have always been largely attended, and afforded the most decided satisfaction to those present. Music occupies a high place in this institution, and the greatest proficiency is attained by the pupils. The contests are annually held for the McKee prizes, a beautiful and costly gold medal and a handsome silver medal, which by special endowment, are awarded to the most brilliant instrumental performers. The Mellor prize, a splendid volume of vocal gems, is also competed for and awarded the best cultured vocalist. To-morrow night the contest will take place in the Chapel of the College, and as the young ladies competing from a class conspicuous for their musical talents over any that has ever preceded them, we anticipate a very enjoyable entertainment. The Judges have been wisely and carefully selected, as the following names will attest: Messrs. Chas, C. Mellor, Carl Grebe, V. De Ham and C. Tetedeoux. The public generally and the friends of the College particularly, are invited to attend. The cards of admission may be obtained at the book and music stores, and at the door to-morrow evening. We can promise a rare treat to all who attend, and those who are capable of passing judgment on fine music will have full range for criticism, as no ordinary performances are promised.

Tour of Inspection.

The Committee of ladies appointed at the last meeting of the Monumental Association, to visit the sites offered for the location of the Monument, assembled, according to appointment, yesterday morning, and made the tour of inspection. They first visited the Allegheny Park, and from thence the Second Avenue Park, Pittsburgh. They expressed no opinion in regard to either place. Their report will be presented at a meeting of the Association, to be held on Saturday afternoon next, when the question of location will, it is expected, be finally decided.

DEATH FROM A RUPTURE.

To give a timely warning to those who are suffering from any of those protrusions denominated hernia or rupture, should be regarded as an act, not only of kindness, but even of duty. Especially is this the case when so many of our fellow-citizens are suffering from an ailment so little understood, and so often fatal to human life. We do not know of a more serious condition than that which is denominated rupture, no matter in what part of the body it exhibits itself. Rupture is a lesion of almost always a serious character, and whether in men, women or children, can be securely retained to its proper place by the adjustment of a properly fitted truss. Dr. KEYSER, AT HIS GREAT MEDICINE STORE, NO. 167 LIBERTY STREET, has always in store every variety and form of the best trusses and appliances for the retention, alleviation and cure of this now common ailment What man or woman will linger through life, with the danger constantly staring them in the face, and the fear of strangulated and incarcerated hernia, when the means of relief are so easily accessible and the prospect of relief so certain and infallible? The prospects of a cure in most cases of rupture are much more certain than formerly, and the appliances for that purpose of a much superior kind than those formerly used. In the rupture of children, nearly every case is sure to get well, and when they fail to do so it is because of ill-fitted or inadequate trusses. It behooves every one, therefore, who has any ailment of this kind to seek the best means afforded and thus secure immunity from so formidable a disease.

For sale all kinds of mechanical appliances for broken veins, hydrocele, prolapsus uteri and piles. Also, shoulder braces, urinal syringes, bed pans and all kinds of the best medicines in use, at Dr. KEYSER'S GREAT MEDICINE STORE, 167 LIBERTY STREET, or at the Doctor's consulting rooms, No. 120 Penn street, from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M. Dr. Keyser will be at his Liberty street office for free consultation every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, from 4 until 6 P. M.

HOME QUESTIONS FOR THE SICKLY AND DEBILITATED.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhiliarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious cholic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisoned air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

VALUABLE CITY LOTS FOR SALE.

The undersigned, as trustee in the partition of the real estate of

AGNES KNOX, Deceased,

By order of the District Court of Allegheny county, will sell at public sale, on the premises, on

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1869,

At 2 o'clock P. M., that very valuable property on Fifth avenue, city of Pittsburgh, consisting of TWO LOTS. First—A lot fronting on Market street 30 feet and extending, the same width, along the south side of Fifth avenue 101 feet to Market alley. Second—A lot on the opposite side of Market alley, fronting on Fifth avenue 30 feet and running back, preserving the same width, along Market alley 39 feet. On the first mentioned lot are FOUR FRAME TENEMENTS, and on the other a THREE STORY BRICK BUILDING.

These lots are among the most valuable in the city of Pittsburgh, being on the principal street and in the centre of business. The attention of capitalists is particularly invited to them, as they are desirable chiefly for the value of the lots, the buildings not being of much consequence, and possession for building purposes can be obtained on 3 months' notice. The property now rents for over eight thousand dollars. The purchaser will receive the rents after July 1st.

THE TERMS OF SALE.

One-third cash, and the remaining two-thirds in two equal annual payments, with semi-annual interest from day of sale, secured by bond and mortgage on the premises.

J. W. F. WHITE,
June 5, 1869. TRUSTEE.

FINANCE AND TRADE,

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, June 15, 1869.

The extreme stringency of the money market has forced a large number of speculative holders of long gold to part with it. The prospect of paying one-eighth per cent. and in some instances one-quarter per cent. interest per day is not very encouraging for those who thought to run up the price some six or eight points above present quotations, although they may be able on a better money market to advance gold far above what it has been since the close of the war.

Government bonds suffered likewise a decline of at least one-half per cent. of the new bonds—10-40's are very weak.

Stocks are dull and lower and should the stringency in money continue for a few days longer stocks would have a heavy decline to experience.

Our local money market works easy.

Quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 137¾; Silver, 130; Eighty-one's, 121¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 122¾; do 1864, 117⅜; do 1865, 113⅜; do 1865, Consols, 119⅝; do 1867, 119⅝; do 1868, ——; Ten Forties, 108¾; New York Central, 88¾; Erie, —; Reading, 97¾; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 56½; Ohio & Mississippi, 33¾; Michigan Southern, 105; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 96½; Chicago & Rock Island, 107⅝; Chicago & North Western, 83; Chicago & North Western Preferred, 94½; Adams Express Company, 59; Merchants Union Express, 15; Pacific Mail, 89¾; Western Union Telegraph Company, 40½; Am. —Closing quotations received by James T. Brady & Co. Gold, 138¾; United States Sixes, 1881, 121¼; Five-Twenties, 1862, 122¼; do. 1864, 117½; do. 1865, 113½; Ten-Forties, 108; Five-Twenties, January and July, 1865, 119¼; do. do. 1867, 119¾; do. do. 1868, 119¼; Seven-Thirties, par less, ¼; Due Compounds, 119; Union Pacific Railroad, 93; Central do. do., par; Cy. Pacifics, 103½; Superior 96.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 15, 1869.

Money market very stringent until after bank hours and the demand was urgent. The rates on call rapidly advanced and a large business was transacted at 7 per cent. currency with commissions added of ⅛@3-16 per cent. Discounts nominal.

Sterling dull at 9⅜@9⅝. Gold heavy and lower; opened at 138¾, fell to 137¾, advanced to 138, and closed at 137⅞. There was considerable long gold thrown overboard by one or two prominent operators in consequence of the money pressure. In addition to this a large amount of gold was borrowed against stock collaterals and thrown on the market to get the currency. Carrying rates 8@12 per cent. Clearances $50,000,000.

Governments a trifle lower, but closed steady, though dull. Coupons of '81, 121¼@121½; do. '62, 122¼@122⅝; do. '64, 117⅜@117¼; do. '65, 118⅜@118⅝; do. new, 119⅜@119½; do, '67, 119⅜@119½; do. '68, 119⅜@119½; 10 40s, 108⅛@108⅜; Pacifics, 106⅜@106⅝.

State bonds firm. Missouris, 94½; others heavy; old Tennessees, 64@65; new do., 62⅝@62⅝; new North Carolinas, 55¼@55½; Virginias, 56½@56¾.

Stocks yielded to the stringency in money this afternoon, and there was a general falling off in prices from the higher figures of the day, which were made between 1 and 2 o'clock. The fluctuations were frequent and the market feverish and unsettled. At the close there was a steadier feeling, but dullness was the chief feature.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, June 15, 1869.

There is nothing new or important in the general markets worthy of special notice. The demand for all of the leading articles is restricted mainly to supplying immediate wants, and with a light volume of business, prices generally are unchanged. PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, June 15, 1869.

The market opened considerably stronger and some few sales were made at an advance, but in the afternoon there was a slight reaction and the advance was partially lost. The general tone of the market appears to be towards increased firmness, and those who are interested in low prices are not so sanguine as they were a few days since. The reported decrease in the production, whether it be true or not, has produced a stronger feeling all around, and dealers generally are operating with a view of present prices being sustained. While there are many who do not believe the reported falling off in the product, and have good reasons for so doing, yet there is no way of proving it false, and hence the report has to be accepted as a fact, as there is no way of getting over it. It is true, erors can be pointed out here and there, and it is impossible to get up a report of this kind without making some mistakes, yet these errors are not of sufficient magnitude to alter the result. While we do not propose to take either side in the matter, there is no disguising the fact but what the market has been stronger since than it was previous to the putting out of this repert, and that a material advance has been established, and the upward movement can be attributed to nothing else than the reported decrease in the production.

CRUDE.

There was but little done in Crude today, and while the market is quiet, holders are firm, and generally asking higher prices. Sale of 1,000 each June to August, at 15; and 1,000 seller all year, at 14. Seller June, is held at 15, though it was said that it could be brought from Oil City at about 14¾.

REFINED

Sale 500 each July to September, at 33; 500 each July and August, at 33; 500 June, at 31¾; 500 each July and September, at 31¼; 500 each July to September, at 33¼ for the two first, and 33½ for the last month.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

ONLY THE CLOTHES THAT SHE WORE.

BY N. G. SHEPHERD.

Recently, at the Morgue in New York, the attire of a drowned person alone remained for identification."

There is the hat,
With the blue veil around it, just as they found it,
Spotted and soiled, stained and all spoiled—
Do you recognize that?

The gloves, too, lie there,
And in them still lingers the shape of her fingers,
That some one has pressed, perhaps, and caressed,
So slender and fair.

There are the shoes,
With their long silken laces, still bearing traces,
To the toe's dainty tip, of the mud of the slip,
The slime and the ooze.

There is the dress,
Like the blue veil, all dabbled, discolored and drabbled—
This you should know, without doubt, and, if so,
All else you may guess!

There is the shawl,
With the striped border, hung next in order,
Soiled hardly less than the light muslin dress,
And—that is all.

Ah, here's a ring
We were forgetting, with a pearl setting,
There was only this one—name or date?—none!
A frail, pretty thing;

A keepsake, may be,
The gift of another, perhaps a brother,
Or lover, who knows? him her heart chose,
Or, was she heart free?

Does the hat there,
With the blue veil around it, the same as they found it,
Summon up a fair face, with just a trace
Of gold in the hair?

Or does the shawl,
Mutely appealing to some hidden feeling,
A form young and slight, to your mind's sight,
Clearly recall?

A month now has passed,
And her sad history remains yet a mystery,
But these we keep still, and shall keep them until
Hope dies at last.

Was she the prey
Of some deep sorrow, clouding the morrow,
Hiding from view the sky's happy blue?
Or was there foul play?

Alas! who may tell?
Some one or other, perhaps a fond mother,
May recognize these when her child's clothes she sees;
Then—will it be well?

Interesting to Tea Drinkers.

Most of the civilized world like a cup of good tea, and it is certainly not kind to say anything which may have a tendency to mar such innocent enjoyment; but we must, in justice to the case, make some allusion to the secrets of tea-making. Could any person of nice tastes witness the method of preparing this popular herb, he would abjure the noninebriating beverage at once. In one part of the building are rows of sheet-iron pans set in masonry, and each heated by a bed of coals underneath. The pans are, in number, from fifty to one hundred. They are raised from the floor about waist high, and a number of coolies are bent over them, stirring the tea to assist in drying it. The entire process is under the direction of a Chinaman, at whose signal the pans are emptied and filled with fresh material. The coolies scoop it up in baskets and carry it to the other end of the building, where it is emptied into a large bin. Empty chests and half chests having previously been prepared and lined with lead, they are filled with tea, and the coolies then jump on the boxes and tread them down to make good packing. They are half naked and fearfully dirty, and knowing the cutaneous cruptions which prevail in China, and the parisitic afflctions of the people generally, one might reasonably shrink from tea. Yes, yet tea drinkers, at least two-thirds of these coolies have sore feet bound with soiled rags. When the tea has been tramped sufficiently, another coolies steps on a lead cover, a third one solders it, and a fourth pastes on a paper top covered with cabalistic characters. The box is then carried to a place where the cover is nailed on, and it is matted and bound with bamboo, and is then redy for shipment.

THE Springfield, Ohio, Republic, relates that about a week ago a middle aged widow of that place, went to Dayton and was married to a batchelor of that city to whom she had been engaged two years or more. In an hour after the wedding ceremony the bridgroom was taken suddenly ill, and in a few minutes the "bride of an hour" was a widow again. Heart disease was the husband's malady.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 245 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. my12:151-d&F

Attention is called to the advertisement on our fifth page, giving notice of a meeting to be held at Dr. J. B. Clark's Church, Allegheny, on Thursday evening next.

Western University Alumni.—The regular semi-annual meeting of the Alumni Association of the Western University will be held on Tuesday, June 22, at 7½ o'clock, P. M., at the University Building, Pittsburgh.

The Headquarters of the Republican County Executive Committee will be for the present, and until further notice, at the office of Morgan & Roberts, 114 Fourth avenue, where the Secretary, Col. G. F. Morgan, will be in attendance.

An Unsanctified Threat.—Christiana Meyer states that Nicholas and Catharine Baugh called her very vile names yesterday, and threatened to kill her if she ever attended church hereafter. Alderman Mullen issued a warrant for the arrest of the threateners.

Severe Accident.—Saturday afternoon a son of Henry Rabe, proprietor of a grocery store in East Liberty, had his thigh broken by the falling of a pile of coffee bags, along side of which he was standing at the time. His injuries were attended by Dr. Perchment.

Spicy.—Louis Redinger was brought before Alderman Taylor yesterday morning, at the instance of Mary Speice, who charged him with striking her son, a youth of some fourteen summers. The parties reside on Penn street, Ninth ward. The case was settled by a compromise at the magistrate's office.

Festival.—The ladies of the Smithfield Street M. E. Church will give a strawberry festival and supper Thursday and Friday evenings, June 17th and 18th, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the organ fund. Supper will be served each evening from five to ten o'clock for the small sum of fifty cents.

The first horseman of the age, James Robinson, with his troupe and Little Clarence, in combination with Gardner & Kenyon's Menagerie, the most perfect in the country, are to perform to-day in East Liberty. To-morrow the companies enter Pittsburgh in grand procession and proceed to Allegheny, where they are to perform three days on the Diamond.

Immersion.—Ellen Donavan and Annie Connor occupy jointly a tenement in Hamilton's Court, off Wylie street, above Washington. Yesterday as Ellen was ascending the stairs with a bucket of water she encountered Annie, who she alleges pushed her back and caused the bucket of water to be upset, immersing her completely. Alderman Strain issued a warrant for the arrest of Annie.

Worthy Presentation.—Our colored citizens belonging to Dr. W. H. Williams' congregation, John Wesley Chapel, presented their worthy pastor with a valuable gold watch and a beautiful silver-headed cane. The presents were certainly due to the D. D., as he has labored hard for the cause. Being a man of wonderful mind, and having a finished education, we are glad to see his flock appreciate him.

Two Men Cut.—A row occurred, Monday afternoon, at a picnic held at Eberhardt's Garden, Troy Hill. Knives and clubs were in full play, and several parties carried away remembrances of the harmonious occasion, in bruised heads and general soreness of body. Two men were cut, one of them Mr. Liessler, custodian of the garden. No warrants have as yet been issued, and no arrests have been made.

Social Reunion.—The election on the lay delegation question, at which Ed. Heazelton, Esq., presided as teller, in the Liberty street M. E. Church, Rev. W. H. Locke, last evening was made the occasion of a very pleasant social reunion, which was largely attended by the members of the congregation. A bountiful supply of strawberries, ice cream, cakes and general confectioneries added no little to the enjoyment of those present.

Two Meetings.—Christian Ludicker and John Neubauer met on Liberty street, yesterday morning, and had a little passage at arms. They met again at Alderman Taylor's office, where Christian had lodged an information against his opponent for assault and battery, the alleged offence consisting in a vicious shove against a brick wall. It appeared at the hearing that John was not the aggressor, and he was accordingly discharged.

Inhuman Treatment.

Alderman McMasters yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of John Jackson, residing on Water street, charged with shamefully beating his wife. The accused is said to have knocked her down, torn nearly all the clothing off her person, kicked and beat, and finally thrown her into the street. Her appearance at the magistrate's office, in a neighbor's dress, which she was compelled to borrow, and exhibiting cuts and bruises, gave evidence of the treatment she had received.

The Latest Returns.

The voting in the M. E. Church, in this vicinity, on the question of Lay Delegation still progresses quietly. Added to those already reported, we have returns from three other churches in which the vote was taken last evening, as follows:

Liberty street—94 votes cast; for Lay Delegation 90, against 4; majority in favor 86.

Smithfield street—137 cast; in favor 62; against 75; majority against 13.

Union Church—110 cast; in favor 36; against 74; majority against 38.

Was It Larceny?

Alexander McMillan, proprietor of a livery stable on Sixth avenue, made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday against J. D. Berry for larceny. The accused is charged with hiring a horse and buggy from McMillan on Monday evening, which he was to return in half an hour, a promise which was not kept. It is further alleged that he was discovered yesterday morning near the outskirts of the city, accompanied by a young lady, and driving along in the buggy at a furious rate. He was arrested and gave bail for a hearing this morning at ten o'clock. He utterly disclaims any intention of stealing the property.

Mr. Weldon presented a communication from the Board of Directors of the Vigilant Fire Company, accompanied by the following resolution passed at the last regular meeting of the Company:

Resolved, That the Board of Directors be instructed to transfer the ownership of the Company's Engine and Hose Carriage to the city for the sum of $3,000, the amount of the indebtedness of the Company, and in case the city does not accept this proposition, that they be instructed to dispose of them to the best advantage.

The communication further stated that the debts of the Company were pressing, and must be adjusted soon. The Company therefore desired that the city take the apparatus as proposed, otherwise they will have to make other arrangements to dispose of the property.

The communication was read.

Mr. Reed moved to refer the matter to the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose.

NO "SNAKE" ABOUT.

Mr. McCarthy moved to amend by giving the Committee power to act.

Mr. Rook moved to amend by referring it to the Committee on City Property. He was opposed, however, to allowing Committee power to act in such an important matter.

Mr. McCarthy thought the business should be finished up as rapidly as possible. If the matter was delayed the city might lose the apparatus, and the services of a valuable organization. There was no "snake" in the matter, as seemed to be imagined by some members. The only "snake" was in delay.

Mr. Case called for the reading of the report of the Committee on City Property.

[The report appears in Select Council proceedings.]

Mr. Hare stated that something must be done right away. The Companies were all troubled by their creditors, and if the city did not pay the debts, the apparatus would have to be sold.

Mr. Weldon offered, as a substitute for the other motions, a resolution authorizing the Committee on Fire Engines to purchase the Vigilant engine and hose carriage at a cost not exceeding $3,000, provided they are worth the amount asked by the Committee.

Mr. Batchelor asked what was proposed to be done after this property had been purchased.

Mr. Hare stated the organization would remain as before and be run on the same plan. The Company only wanted to be freed from debt, and would manage affairs as formerly.

After some further discussion, the subject was referred to the Committee on City Property.

Mr. Reed presented a remonstrance against the opening and grading of Devilliers street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

THE NEW MARKET HOUSE.

Mr. Houston, from the Committee on Markets, presented their report as asked for by Councils, stating the location and prices of the different sites examined for the proposed new market house building.

The report was read and accepted.

The former report of the Committee, recommending the site on the corner of Miltenberger street and Pennsylvania avenue, was then called up, when Dr. McCandless moved a postponement of action. Carried.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MATTERS AGAIN.

Mr. Jahn offered a resolution authorizing the Committee on City Property to put the engine house on Seventh Avenue in proper repair at once. Referred to Committee on City Property.

Mr. McCarthy, a resolution instructing the Committee on Fire Engines to buy from B. Lafferty the hose reel and carriage formerly belonging to the Neptune Fire Company, by paying therefor the amount of his bill for feed furnished, together with the costs in the case.

Referred to Committee on Fire Engines and Hose.

Mr. Wilson called up the ordinance granting permission to Hussey, Wells & Co. the right to erect an iron-clad addition to their works. In S. C., May 31st, laid over. C. C., June 15th, this action was concurred in.

THE AWNING ORDINANCE.

Mr. Albeitz presented a petition for the amendment of the ordinance relative to awnings in the city. Referred to Committee on Ordinances with instructions to prepare an ordinance.

CALLED UP.

Mr. Barton called up the ordinance relating to the issue of $250,000 worth of bonds for the extension of water pipe through the new city districts, and moved a concurrence in the action of Select Council, in authorizing the issue. Carried.

Mr. McCandless, a petition from L. Graham, in reference to damages sustained by him in the opening of Robert street. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Weldon, a petition for the widening of the sidewalk on Pennsylvania avenue. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Mr. McCandless, a resolution instructing the Street Committee to repair the Dinwiddie street sewer. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Weldon, petition for the postponement of the opening of Hazlett street. Referred to Street Committee.

SELECT COUNCIL BUSINESS.

The report of the Select Committee on change of Water Commission Bill, was brought up, and the action of Select Council, in accepting and adopting resolution non-concurred in.

NEW BUSINESS.

Mr. McMasters offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Streets to report to Councils how many men they have employed on the repairs on Penn street, along the line of the Citizens' Passenger Railway. Lost.

Mr. McKelvy offered a resolution authorizing the appointment of a Committee of Five, two from Select and three from Common Council, to examine into and report upon the condition of all streets in the city traversed by passenger railways. Carried, and Messrs. McKelvy, McCarthy and Sieferth appointed on behalf of C. C.

Mr. John S. Hollingshead was authorized to procure a lot upon which a lock-up could be erected.

A tax of fifteen mills was levied for borough purposes.

An Aerial Promenade.

Last evening, about six o'clock, Mr. John Deneir, a daring and certainly one of the most skillful tight rope performers we have ever seen, treated the citizens of Allegheny to one of his unique exhibitions. A rope had been securely fastened stretching across Federal street, about sixty feet from the ground, between Messrs. Stem and Gibbon's buildings. Upon this he appeared and went through his performance, consisting of a promenade forward and backward over the rope, wheeling a wheelbarrow backward and forward, balancing in all sorts of postures, and winding up with thrilling exercises on the trapeze. At the conclusion he announced that he would cross the rope this evening blindfolded and enveloped in a sack.

A large crowd gathered in the vicinity and fully manifested the interest in the entertainment. Prominent among the spectators, we noticed an unusual sprinkling of physicians and sergeons, while just previous to the commencement of the feats, a wagon containing a man's coffin was driven up to a commanding position near by, two circumstances slightly suggestive on such as occasion.

Supposed Confidence Man Arrested and Discharged.

A young man, giving the name of Charles Paulson, was arrested at the Monongahela House last evening on suspicion of being a confidence operator. Some two weeks since Zachary Whiting, a young man from the Eastern part of this State, having been in Jefferson county, Ohio, was on his way home and met Mr. Paulson on the train, and traveled with him to this city. While traveling together the young men became quite friendly and Mr. Paulson, representing himself to be connected with a western railroad, proposed to Whiting to get him a situation on the road, which Mr. W. agreed to accept and gave his friend his address. A few days since he received a letter from Paulson, stating that the situation was ready for him, and requesting Whiting to meet him at the Monongahela House at his earliest convenience. Mr. W. arrived in the city yesterday and met his friend Paulson at the Monongahela House. When he asked about the situation Paulson informed him that he would have to give him one hundred dollars with which to pay the man who now held the position. Whiting, thinking that there might be some trick in the affair, declined to pay the amount at that time, and went to the Mayor's office, where he made known the facts as stated. He then returned, accompanied by two of the officers and was in their presence accosted by Paulson who again asked him for the $100. Whiting proposed to give him five, which he accepted, and as soon as he received the money the officers arrested him and took him to the tombs, where he was locked up. On searching him passes on over forty different railroads were found in his possession and a number of notes and checks, but there was nothing that would justify the Mayor in holding him and he was accordingly discharged.

It is always a pleasure to examine fine goods, and the gentlemanly salesmen at this establishment deem it a pleasure to exhibit goods. The stock has been selected with great care by Mr. Moorhead in person, who purchases from first hands in the East, and is thereby enabled to sell at prices much below those who purchase from jobbers and brokers and consequently have to pay more for their goods. The latest styles in all lines of goods may be found at 81 Market street as soon as they appear in the Eastern market.
